THE GERMAN DAWN.

The German translation of Millennial Dawn is issued as yet only in cloth binding – 414 pages, price $1.00 per copy. When orders for 2000 copies in paper binding are pledged we will get out an edition of 5000 such. As yet only about 500 have been pledged. Many of our readers have friends and relatives who are Germans and should, as far as possible, use this agency for their benefit.

We propose, to those unable to purchase, that we will loan them a copy of this book and pay the postage to them, if they will promise to read it carefully and to return it, and to pay return postage. The same proposition, to loan, we apply also to the English edition, – though at the low price of 25cts. in paper covers, there are few who cannot purchase, if they so desire.
